TRAVEL

Here's Where to Travel Based on Your Astrological Sign

Celebrity astrologer Susan Miller pairs the 12 celestial signs with the perfect destinations

No matter what your zodiac element—earth, fire, water, or air—it's never a bad time for a winter sojourn. From the sugar sand beaches of Miami to the powdery slopes of Jackson Hole, Wyoming, Susan Miller, the venerable astrologer and fashionable founder of AstrologyZone, weighs in on where domestic travel might take the 12 celestial signs this year.

Young and hip in manner and spirit, curious, intellectual, and an excellent communicator, you are also quick-witted, often funny, and always clever. Friends love that you are flexible, adaptable, and quite spontaneous.

Visit: You are not one to lie on a beach—you want to see and learn things. Go to Chicago, a city not only about pizza (note: Bon Appétit named it “Restaurant City of the Year” recently). For fun, buy a ticket to the world-famous Second City Comedy Club, browse the Art Institute of Chicago, or shop on the Magnificent Mile. Plan a trip in spring or in summer near your birthday—perfect timing—but dress warm in the winter (Burrrrr!).

Where to Stay: In the Gold Coast, the Viceroy Chicago is housed in a 1920s Art Deco building topped by a sleek, newly constructed glass tower. With interiors by TAL Studio, 180 rooms with floor-to-ceiling windows are bathed in gold and midcentury touches while roomy marble bathrooms are stocked with Natura Bisse toiletries.
